WELFARE COMMITTEE ADDED TO CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

To Co-ordinate All Welfare Activities in Community
Under One Head

WILL ALSO HOLD EXPOSITION

The Chamber of Commerce at a recent meeting of the Board decided to create a Welfare Committee. This will make the fourteenth committee which has been named by the Chamber since its formation. At the recent meeting of the State Legislature at Harrisburg, one of the pieces of legislation most talked about and wrestled with, was that of welfare.

President Harding, in his recent message to Congress, pointed out the necessity of creating a Welfare Department which would be headed up in the Cabinet. This person would probably be a woman and if so, would be the first woman who was ever a member of the Cabinet of our Federal Government. There are some fifteen departments in our government at the present time that are handling welfare work. These would all be co-ordinated under one department according to the present plans.

The Chamber of Commerce in the appointing of a Welfare Committee has exactly the same thing in mind. The hospital, the Red Cross, the Health Department, the Metropolitan Life Insurance nurse, the various home missionary associations, and other kindred agencies in the community could thus be co-ordinated through this committee, which would act as a clearing house and which would unify the work toward any common drive which these agencies wanted to do. None of these organizations would in any sense lose their identity nor be merged with any other organization but would simply work together under this general steering committee. The real importance of this can readily be seen in the case of another epidemic like the flu.

The following committee, which will be known as the Welfare Committee has been appointed: W. D. Pollock, chairman. W. M. Darby, J. D. Berryman, Mrs. A. O. Davis and Mrs. T. M. Faddis.

The Exposition Committee met at 8:30 Monday evening. This committee is laying its plans already for the fashion and display show which will be given about the middle of next September. The committee consists of Messrs. Darby, Haube, Schaefer, Kimmins and Bowers. At this early date of course, only a general outline of the Exposition could be made. It was decided that the space to sell for $1.50 per running foot for washon display. The Exposition will open on Monday and close the following Saturday. A great deal of attention will be given to the children of the public schools and they will be admitted free every afternoon and will pay only ten cents in the evening. Already a splendid program of music consisting of solos, quartettes, and orchestras are being arranged for. The rules for entries have been

REJECTS BONDS FOR COUNTY HOME IMPROVEMENTS

The county commissioners, members of the poor board and the county controller met in joint session at Washington on Monday afternoon for the purpose of receiving and opening bids for the construction of the proposed addition to the county home at Andover. A number of bids were received for the work contemplated but the members of the boards deemed them too high, and all were rejected. It was decided to meet the first Monday in June, to consider the question of re-advertising for bids.

MALTAS INITIATE A LARGE CLASS

Valley Echo Commandery, No. 379 Knights of Malta, held a class initiation in Might's Auditorium on Tuesday evening, which was an event of more than usual importance to the fraters of this organization. The initiation was in charge of Grand Commander James Penney of McKeesport, who was assisted by Deputy Grand Commander Nicolay of Monessen.

It was one of the largest classes initiated in recent years in Malta circles, and owing to the number it was necessary for the Commandery to secure the use of the Might auditorium in order to accommodate members of the local organization as well as the many visitors who were present.

The Grand Commander conferred the ten highest degrees of the Order and the exercises were of the most interesting character. It was expected that the class would have been much larger, but quite a number of those eligible for the list failed to present themselves.

The addition of the newly initiated candidates makes Valley Echo Commandery one of the largest in the state and has compelled it to look for larger quarters, which it has practically secured, announcement of which is expected within a short time.

On the 17th of May the Commandery will hold an open meeting at which time a number of able speakers will be present to make addresses.

The hour for the funeral services of Mrs. Louise Carr Osborne, who died at her home on Maple creek Tuesday morning has been fixed for one o'clock Thursday afternoon fast time.

Buy at home. The Charleroi Mail carries the advertisements of the leading merchants. Look over our columns.

Worked out and all the plans for general supervision. Prizes will be offered for poultry of all kinds, fruit, dairy products, canned goods, fancy work, quilts, etc. The catalogues for this exposition is now in the process of formation at the Chamber of Commerce headquarters.

Borough Employees' Salaries Readjusted by Council

At the regular session of council, which was held in the council chamber of the borough building Tuesday evening, the question of wages for borough employees took up the principal part of the evening.

All members of council were present, with J. M. Long as clerk pro tem. Contrary to expectations no action was taken by council to fill the vacancy existing in the office of borough clerk, which was formerly filled by the late Ira L. Nickerson, who died suddenly on the 5th of April.

A report was made by the street committee that the work on Meadow avenue, between 12th and Gar streets and on Gar street, between Crest and Meadow, leading to the Latchem mine, and which was repaired jointly by the borough and Mr. Latchem had been completed.

A report was also made showing that street lights had been placed on Maple avenue at Cherry and Peach streets, and on Lincoln avenue extension, in response to requests made by citizens.

Then the wage question was taken up and incorporated in an ordinance which was framed and placed on final passage. By the terms of this ordinance the salary of the Chief of Police as well as the patrolmen of the borough were reduced $5.00 per month. The salary of the street commissioner and the first teamster are reduced by like amounts, and the second teamster $10 per month. The wages of laborers were fixed at 40 cents per hour. The salary of the borough clerk, which had been placed at $125 by a previous action of council, was fixed at $135.00 or $5.00 less than formerly.

The borough solicitor reported the collection of a number of liens, and enclosed a check to the order of the borough for over $1500.00. The usual reports were made by the burgess, treasurer and tax collector.

HOPE TO HAVE ROAD UNDER CONTRACT SOON

It is predicted that the contract for the improvement of the river road between Speers and Allenport will be advertised within the next month. There are a few points in the decision handed down by the Public Service Commission that were not quite clear to the county commissioners and officials of the Pittsburgh Railways company, particularly with reference as to who should pay the expense of eliminating the crossings, which the Commission will be asked to make more specific. The commissioners were in Pittsburgh Monday afternoon in consultation with street railway officials, and as soon as these points are cleared up, it looks as if everything will be ready to have the road advertised.

An agreement providing for a change of the road through the property of the Pittsburgh Steel Products company has been entered into and signed. The terms are agreeable to the county, Allenport, Allen township and the steel company. Under this agreement the road will run along the side of the hill and west of its present course through the property of the steel company. It will give the company more room for railroad yardage and for enlargement of the mills. Work on this change is now under way, and while more grading will be required, the expense has been taken care of by mutual agreement.

STATE TROOPERS WERE TRANSFERRED TO DONORA

The patrol of the State Police which has been located at Monongahela for some time past has been transferred to Donora, the change being made on Monday last. The station will be increased from two to five men, in charge of Corporal John Tomak. The change was made to Donora after the officials of that borough had offered the patrol free accommodations in the municipal building.

GIVE RECEPTION TO KING'S MESSENGERS

Tuesday evening in the Sunday school room of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church, a reception was given to "The King's Messengers," a missionary organization of the church. Tables were set the full length of the room, and the decorations harmonized with the two colors chosen for the contest, red and blue. Narrow bands of these colors ran the full length of the tables, and each messenger wore the emblem of their side. The tables were decorated with spring flowers.

The program was in charge of the superintendent, Miss Elizabeth Elliott, and was pleasing throughout. Some 75 members of the organization were present, and meeting in the church auditorium marched into the Sunday school room, where a pleasing menu was served by the officers of the Missionary Society and the officers of the Westminster Guild, assisted by Mrs. William Parks, Mrs. Tayman, Miss Jennie Elliott and Mrs. Mont Robertson.

The literary program included a piano solo by Earl Rosomme, a violin solo by Miss Eleanor Kinder, a piano solo by Miss Olive McKay and reading by Miss Olive Black.

The mass singing was a pleasing feature of the exercises, and the sheet music at each plate was utilized to the greatest extent.

Greetings from "The Guild" were extended by Miss Helen Fleming and Mrs. McKay, the president of the Missionary Society, who told a beautiful story of missionary work in China, under the caption of "Her Excellent Excellency," or a study of "Anlo." The closing address of the evening was by the Rev. John R. Burson, who spoke on "The World's Need."

Miss Olive McKay presided at the piano for the marching and accompanied the vocalists. Favors at each plate containing fruits nuts and candy made a pretty remembrance token for each diner and the evening closed with pleasant memories.

COAL SHIPMENTS FOR APRIL SHOW A DECIDED DECREASE

NEW TRIAL REFUSED IN A DAMAGE CASE

In the suit of Nora Calligan against Monongahela City, in which the plaintiff was awarded $1,708 damages for injuries received in a bad sidewalk in said city, the court in an opinion handed down on Tuesday has refused the motion of the city asking for judgment notwithstanding the verdict and for a new trial.

The exercises will be held in the auditorium of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of L. D. S., and the event is causing a great deal of interest in our neighboring borough. Instrumental music for the occasion will be furnished by the Charleroi High school orchestra, under leadership of Prof. I. T. Daniel, while vocal numbers will be given by Miss Emma Clutter, Miss Grace off the Belle Vernon Firemen's Quartet, Miss Blanche Allison and

Industrial Inactivity Reflects in Tonnage Through Lock in April

COKE SHIPMENTS INCREASED

Coal shipments from the upper Monongahela valley, through Lock No. 4 for the month of April, showed a further shrinkage from the month of March, and reflected the industrial inactivity from which the valley is now suffering. However, the figures as submitted by Lockmaster J. A. Sweeney were not unexpected by lock officials, who keep a close tab on shipments from day to day, and who are able to gauge with remarkable accuracy the industrial barometer by the amount of coal shipments each month.

According to the figures reported to the District Engineer's office at Pittsburgh on Monday, the total amount of shipments for April were 859,580 tons of coal, or expressed in bushels, 21,487,000 or less than one-half of the amount shipped through the locks during the month of last August. The shipments for April showed a falling off from the previous month of March of 65,980 tons or 1,649,500 tons.

The shipments for April would have been much smaller had it not been for the activity of the Carnegie Steel company, which has had six of its steamers in continued operation throughout the month in towing coal from the upper pools to the by-product plant at Clairton, which has been kept in continuous operation since the time it was first opened for operation.

The coke shipments for April, however, were in excess of the previous month, the total being 17,720 tons, which were shipped by the Pittsburgh Steel company from its Alicia plant at Brownsville to the mills at Monessen. The mammoth steel barge known as "Big Ben," carried all of this tonnage, and is now making regular trips between the works at Brownsville and Monessen.

The lock reports shows that there were a total number of lockings, both up and down, of 747; empty craft up, 1608; loaded barges down 1020; coal going down, 859,580 tons; coke 17,720 tons; gravel, 2,114 tons; sand, 1,000 tons; steel products, 350 tons.

At the present time many of the steamboats lying idle are being overhauled and repaired, in order to be ready for service when business again picks up, which is anticipated by coal shippers to take place within the next few months.

THE FOREIGN BORN

The proportion of the foreign born element to the whole population of the United States is now smaller than it has been for many years, having increased only 2.6 per cent between 1910 and 1920 in consequence of the check put upon immigration by the World War. In 1840 the proportion of foreign born was very small. In 1850 it was 10 per cent. By 1850 it has risen to 13 and by 1870 to 14.3 per cent. By 1880 the proportion had fallen to 13 per cent. In 1890 it was 14.5 per cent, in 1900 it was 13.4 per cent; and in 1910 it had risen again to 14.5 per cent.

In view of such figures the demand for restricted immigration seems unreasonable. But it must be remembered that the foreign-sympathy groups causing so much disturbance in recent years are not necessarily confined to the foreign born but two often include their children also. The aliens coming to this country in such vast numbers since the middle of the last century have been of great service industrially and have added largely to the country's wealth. On the other hand we have suffered from the forcing of European issues into American politics and even from agitations against the very existence of our form of government. The history of recent years shows that there is more need now than ever of immigration restriction or inspection with a view so far as possible, to bar out undesirables.

LEADER IN ROAD WORK.

Pennsylvania has more highway construction under way than any other State in the Union, and within a few weeks there will be still more work in progress, so that the results for the year will place Pennsylvania once more at the top in the records for better roads. Thanks to the weather conditions, the State has been enabled to start work early on its and the contractors have been pushing right along.

Of the 171 contracts on which work was pending at the close of 1920, work has been resumed on all but a dozen or so, and they will be moving very soon. This is alone a record for any State, and when it is considered work will be inaugurated on probably 30 more, let this spring, it can be realized what Pennsylvania is doing. And on top of this some forty projects are to be let this month.

For a long time Pennsylvania was called names because of roads, but that time has gone by, and it is now being watched as a leader in the improvement of highways and commended for the manner in which it is keeping up what it has rebuilt.

ECONOMY

"The question of economy in its large application cannot be thrashed out at this session," observes the Washington Star, in an editorial, which contains the following additional comments: "Only two of the big supply bills—the Army bill and the Navy bill—hangovers from the last Congress—will come up for consideration. Both are important meaasures, and large sums of money are involved, and economy will figure when the debate begins. But at the next session all the supply bills, covering the whole matter of supporting the government for a twelve-month, will be in evidence. Then the matter of November, 1920, as it relates to economy will have to be interpreted and obeyed. For a time abnormal times must be provided for. We cannot at once cut them all out, and we shall probably never return to the figures that looked so large when they existed. The normal we shall obtain will be a new normal, and it will make demands that will have to be met."

THE APPLE CROP

Apples apparently suffered less from the freeze and frost which swept through the central portion of the country recently than was at first indicated. Reports from State agents to the department of Agriculture, show definitely that the fruit surplus of the country was not materially affected.

Southern sections of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois and elsewhere, Maryland, Virginia, Tennessee, Kentucky, Arkansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Kansas and the Panhandle section of Texas, however, reported considerable damage. In Missouri the fruit crop was said to have been "hard hit."

PLAN TO REGULATE RADIO

Federal regulation of radio communication is proposed in a bill introduced by Representative White Republican from Maine, who would place all wireless stations and operators under license restrictions, and in framing the regulations and supervising stations the Commerce Secretary would have an advisory committee of seven. It would be made up of representatives of the War, Navy, Post Office and Commerce departments and the Bureau of Standards, and two others, who would be experts on radio communications, not otherwise employed by the Government.

We have the word of the Department of Agriculture that trained farm workers in large numbers are returning to the farms from the cities, but we as yet have no assurance that the resulting benefits will be enjoyed outside of food profiteer circles.

If canned meats improved with age like wine, Secretary Weeks would not have to ask the permission of Congress to sell abroad the $1,000,000 pounds still in the army storehouse. Heroic cuts in prices might unload considerable of it even in this country.

When royalty goes to the polls it seems to question its own right to rule derived from a mere accident of birth. Did the Queen of Belgium think of that when she voted along with the rest of her recently enfranchised sex?

The pension for ex-Presidents bill will have a better chance than it otherwise might in consequence of the fact that a former President representing each of the two great parties is now living.

Samuel Gompers' second marriage at 71 recalls the dictum of a twice-wedded lady that "marriage is not what it is cracked up to be, but it's the best thing there is."

The Pennsylvania railroad company reduced its dividend to one per cent quarterly, which shows that capital is compelled to suffer from depression, just the same as labor.

THE FRANKLIN

Less Expense, Less Trouble, Better Service

Franklin economy is enough in itself to justify your choosing a Franklin these days. New conditions have given a new significance to the familiar Franklin figures below.

Yet economy was never the only aim—nor the only good result, of the Franklin. The principles behind it were adopted, and continued, for the superior service they gave in four ways, too.

Light weight makes the Franklin easier and safer to handle as well as more economical of gasoline; flexibility makes it more comfortable as well as easier on tires; direct cooling frees it from the annoyance as well as from the expense of radiator troubles.

20 miles to the gallon of gasoline 12,500 miles to the set of tires

With Servants to Command.

A writer in the Indian Daily News, home in London for the first time in eight years, is amazed at the way families who once "lived" with nine servants now manage with three and those who managed with three now doing with one, according to the Christian Science Monitor. "They seem to make something for themselves," he writes, "and to Calcutta. But I do wish they wouldn't keep adding to the list of their own servants. I don't want to get a housekeeper's outfit and learn to cobble for myself." He describes the "ready-made" departments of grocery stores, a new thing on such vast scales in London, and concludes that life may not be so hard after all, though for himself, he will the more cheerfully return to India, where a man may command his servants and need not arm himself with the tools of many trades.

Judge's Black Cap.

In odder days, the legal profession was mainly composed of clerics. As the clerics were not allowed to take life on any account, a difficulty arose when it came to pronouncing the death sentence. It was avoided by covering the tunic—that sacred circle at the crown of the head which was once universally the token of priesthood—with a black cloth just before passing sentence, thus signifying that for the moment the judge was a layman and not a priest. As is often the case in law, when the reason for a custom itself has long since died out, the custom itself lives on. Hence to this day a black cap—which by the way, is not shaped like a cap but is an ordinary square piece of black cloth—is placed on the judge's head just before the fatal words are spoken.

Jap Water Wizards.

The particular form of magic in which the Japs excel has to do with water. With a bowl of flowers, a sword, a fan, and two Japanese boys a conjurer in Japan can produce four fountains. For with a wave of his hand from the blade of the sword spouts forth a leaping flood of water, from the flowers another mystic wave, and from the top of the head of one boy three spouting fountains. And so on. On being handed a cup and saucer, the wizard puts these homely articles to novel use, for no sooner does he wave his hand again over the cup than there bursts forth still another fountain. Then two lighted torches are handed to him but they, too, from the midst of the flames, send forth another "waterspout."

Diamonds as Candles.

When placed in a vacuum and exposed to a high-tension current of electricity, diamonds phosphoresce or shine with different colors and some stones give out light on being placed in a dark room. Most South African diamonds when placed in a vacuum exhibit a bluish light, while diamonds from other parts of the world shine with such colors as bright blue, apricot, pale blue, red, yellowish green, orange and pale green. In a lecture delivered in London, Professor Crookes stated that the beautiful green diamond in his collection, when phosphorescing in a good vacuum, gave almost as much light as a candle. The light was pale green, almost white.

The Boyar.

The word boyar is the name of a dignity of old Russia contemporaneous with the history of the country. Originally those who bore this dignity or honor, who were called boyars, were the intimate friends and confidential advisers of the Russian prince, and the superior members of the order were his bodyguard, companions and champions. The order became divided into two classes, the elder and the younger boyars. Later the boyars became the chief members of the prince's duma or council. As time passed they became a military caste, and Peter the Great transformed boyarism into something resembling an aristocracy of western Russia.

For some years ultraviolet rays have been used for sterilizing water, milk and other fluids. The idea has now been applied to the disinfecting of barrels and casks. Electric lamps are lowered into the casks and the light turned on for 15 to 20 seconds. In ordinary barrels coated with pitch the light rays cannot be let on for a longer period as the "increase of temperature causes pitch fumes to rise." The lamps vary in size according to the dimensions of the casks. So far, this method of disinfection by rays has been used successfully only upon casks and barrels which are coated with pitch.

Remembered Perfectly.

"Good old college days" are not always convenient social assets. An alumnus recently invited a pretty young woman to dine with him at a restaurant near the campus. "I used to go there when I was at college," he explained. "And I'll show you something of the atmosphere we used to have." The young woman consented eagerly. "Ah," remarked the man as they sat down, "there's the fellow who used to walk on me. Hello Tony!" Tony greeted his customer effusively. "So?" said the man. "Tony remembers me from the old days." "Sure I remember him, miss," agreed Tony. "He used to come in here every noon with a different girl."

In Transit.

"Were you nervous when you went up in the airship?" "Not exactly nervous," answered Senator Sorghum; "but I'll admit I was glad I wasn't expected to get out on the rear platform and make a speech."

TO IMPROVE ROAD LEADING TO BEALLSVILLE

It is generally understood among those acquainted with the situation that the State Highway Department proposes some repairs to the road leading from Beallsville to Beallsville. It is reported that a bitumen surface will be placed on the highway from the top of Peterman's hill to the pump station just outside of Beallsville, while the balance of the road between Beallsville and the top of the hill will be permanently improved.

BROWNSVILLE MUST INCREASE GAS RATES

The Dunlap Natural Gas company of Brownsville has filed with the Public Service Commission a new tariff of rates which it proposes to put into effect in Brownsville and South Brownsville and Luerne township, Fayette county and in Centerville, Washington county. It proposes to increase the rate from 33 to 43 cents for each 1,000 cubic feet of gas.

BIG ENROLLMENT OF VOTERS IS EXPECTED

The registry assessors of the various districts of Washington county have received from the county commissioners the books and equipment necessary for the registration and enrollment of voters, and many of them are already at work. It will be necessary for the assessors to visit each home in their districts and ascertain the names of all eligible voters, men and women, and to enroll them as members of one of the political parties. Unless a voter is thus enrolled they cannot vote for the candidates of any party at the primaries on September 20.

Where a voter is absent and his politics unknown the assessor will leave a certificate of enrollment whereon he may later designate the party of his choice and hand or mail the certificate to the assessor. On July 19 and 20 the registry assessors will be at the polling places to receive such certificates and make necessary changes in the registration lists. On July 21 a copy of the registry lists will be mailed to the county commissioners to use in connection with the fall primaries.

It is anticipated that the registration this year will be unusually heavy owing to the fact that the names of all women voters will be included, and it is the belief of officials that this will mean the addition of some 30,000 names.

COUNTY TO PAY COSTS IN ILLEGAL LIQUOR CASE

The grand jury on Tuesday ignored the bill against Anthony Cucura of Charleroi, who was charged with illegal sale of liquor and the costs placed on the county. Cucura was arrested by the local police and his still confiscated. The officers found the still on the fire with the "hooch" in the making and not only took the copper still, filled with the distillation of raisin jack, but likewise the worm and the hotplate on which the vessel rested. All of the paraphernalia was brought to the police station and later taken to Washington and turned over to the district attorney. However, it is said that not sufficient evidence was offered before the grand jury to justify a true bill.

COST DOLLAR TO SPIT ON COURT ROOM FLOOR

It cost a man just $1 on Tuesday to spit tobacco juice on the marble floor in court room No. 2, at Washington. This man, before his action was noticed by the tipstaff, had expectored several times. The fact that he had a little moonshine or raisin jack on board was probably responsible for his conduct. When his attention was called to what he had done and a dollar demanded of him to pay for having the mess cleaned, he quickly handed over the money. The amount was given to trustees who shortly after appeared and cleaned the floor.

INFORMAL DANCE AT ELKS THURSDAY EVENING

Invitations have been issued for an informal dance to be given by the Charleroi Elks, Thursday evening, May 5, from 8:30 to 1:00 o'clock. Parker's Own Original orchestra of Columbus, under the personal direction of Charles A. Parker himself, will provide the music for the affair. The committee in charge of the dance is headed by Frank Delvaux, chairman, and composed of S. W. Sharpnack, Wm. F. Vetter, Gilbert Zimmerman, Horace Nutt, George Vetter, Paul Urban, James E. Russell, Harry E.
Price, Every Jobs and Lawrence Bailey.

UNIONTOWN CONSUMERS PAY HIGH MILK PRICES

The Board of Health at Uniontown is going to take up the milk question with a view of ascertaining how many dealers in that city are selling the lactical fluid at 60 cents a gallon, which costs them but 25 and 30 cents a gallon. The health officer in making his annual inspection of dieries in that town learned at first hand that many of the dealers were charging the 60-cent rate to consumers, and it is now proposed to make a more complete investigation on the price question, with a view of obtaining a better rate for the consumers.

Mr. Merchant: Let the people of Charleroi and vicinity know what you have to sell, and the advantages of dealing with you. Then there will be no need of knocking the mail order business.

Teaching Birds Music.
That birds can sing not only their own songs but ours also, has been revealed in an astonishing story told by Henschel, the famous scientist. A bird trainer with infinite patience succeeded in teaching a bullfinch to pipe "God Save the King." Moreover, a young canary learned the tune from the bull-finch. The canary became so expert that whenever the bullfinch faltered his little pupil unfailingly took up the retrain, though kept in another room.
If the hobby of teaching birds our favorite airs were to become popular, and these trained singers were afterward set free in their native woods we should be able to take sylvan strolls with the pleasant prospect of hearing the vesper sparrows warble "Annie Laurie," and the robin sing "Down On the Farm."

East Indian Superstitions.
Belief in auspicious days is "hobgoblin" in the path of the medical missionary in India. Dr. Degenring said. Soon after an Indian child is born, the soothsayer reveals to the family its lucky star and its lucky days. Indians who fall ill or are hurt in an accident persist in waiting for their auspicious days before sending for a doctor. The Indians, the physician explained, attribute epidemics to the wrath of various goddesses of ill health, adding "there is a goddess of malaria and a goddess of smallpox—a goddess, in fact, of every recurring epidemic." Though they believe in goddesses, they are hard to convince concerning germs and they have no idea of quarantine for contagious diseases, Doctor Degenring said.

Horn Books and Their Uses.
Horn books were used as early as the sixteenth century by the schoolboys of that day, and acquiring even the fundamentals of education by them was a tedious occupation. Books, as they are known today, were not to be had for the asking, and such as were in existence were not to be trusted to the grating hands of small boys.
The horn book resulted. It consisted of a single page containing the alphabet or simple words pasted to a thin oak board, and covered over with a sheet of horn transparent enough so that the young eyes could make out the lettering beneath. The horn was fastened to the board with thin strips of brass, and the scholar could get the affair as dirty as he wished, a damp cloth renewing it will.

Hand-Kissing Old Custom.
In the Christian assemblies of the early time the ministers kissed the hand of the presiding bishop. Some old authors say that kissing hands is a mute language by which people expressed love, reverence, or thanks. asked benefits, gave a welcome. Very few nations, indeed, can be pointed out where the custom has never existed in the past. It occurs both in Africa and America, amongst primitive races.
When Cortez, the Spanish leader, made an entry into a large Mexican town, he states that about a thousand persons saluted him in the fashion usual there. They went down upon their knees, touched the earth with their hands, and then lifted them to their mouths.

Reproducing Old Engravings.
An ingenious method of making photographic copies of plates and engravings in books that cannot be removed from libraries, and where the use of the camera is prohibited, has been devised by Jervis Smith, an Englishman.
He coats a card-board with luminous paint, exposes it to sunlight or electric ray light, and then places it at the back of the engraving, while the photographic plate is placed on the face of the engraving. The book is closed, and after one hour, depending largely on the thickness of the paper, a satisfactory negative is produced. The book is inclosed in a black cloth during the manipulation, from which the book takes no harm.

The ancients had much more common belief in the healing and health-giving virtues of sunlight than we have. Our houses are built as air-locks to shut out the sun. Yet when old we pay large sums of money for sun baths in the hospitals, and our medical men insist that when tuberculosis catches us the sun is the greatest if not the only curative agent. The sun is being claimed now for rheumatism. In ancient Rome, solaria in temples and in public buildings were used to cure nervous diseases, gout, dislocation, and diseases of the skin.
In Central America sun rays were used both by the Indians and early Spaniards as a cure for syphilis, tuberculosis, and rheumatism.

Ambergris is a waxy concretions formed in the intestine of the sperm whale. It is found sometimes in the whale, but chiefly on the surface of those seas inhabited by the whale, or cast upon the shore in masses sometimes over two hundred pounds in weight. It is opaque and inflammable, and usually of a grayish color often streaked with brown, white or gray. It is thought to be derived from the fatty matter of cephalopods (a class of mollusks including cuttlefish) eaten by the whale. Ambergris has a slight but pleasant odor and is largely employed in the manufacture of perfumery.

Insist on Burial in China.

A good Chinaman insists on being buried in China. He may live in the United States, but when he is about to die he makes it clearly understood that his remains are to be transported to the Far East for final burial.
To transport each body separately would be prohibitive in cost for the average Chinaman's estate. Hence established procedure is to accumulate a large number of bodies until they make up a shipment and can be transported at minimum expense. From the time the Chinaman dies until the shipment is being made up, his body is kept in a separate compartment of a stone structure which serves as a cemetery. After placing the body in its compartment or pigeon hole, it is sealed in with a thin cement wall.
Each compartment is numbered and a suitable epitaph is written on the cement wall in flowery Chinese characters.

The "Dark Day" of 1780.

The so-called "dark day" was May 19, 1780. Beginning suddenly at ten o'clock in the morning of that date, which fell on Friday, an extraordinary darkness, for which no scientific explanation ever has been given, enveloped all of the New England states. The sun was blotted out as if by a heavy eclipse, without even a corona showing.
The chickens went to roost, the birds flew to their nests and the cattle went to their stalls. So complete was the darkness that people were unable to make their way about the streets without lighted tapers. This condition continued until midnight, no stars or moon being visible. The belief that the earth was doomed to destruction spread far and wide. Heavy thunder crashed from dense massed banks of clouds, without any accompanying lightning, and a thick, gummy, black rain began to fall.

Metal Heavier Than Gold.

Anybody who has been allowed to handle a gold brick, perhaps on the occasion of a visit to the mint, must have been astonished to find how heavy it was. Gold is, in fact, twice as heavy as lead. Yet it is not the heaviest of metals. That rank is held by osmium, which is one-sixth heavier than gold. At the other end of the scale of weights we have lithium, which is so light that it will float on water. It is queer stuff. Put a small chunk of it on your desk and you will soon observe that it is growing smaller. Before long it will disappear entirely, vaporized. Magnesium is nearly three times as heavy as lithium, yet it is considerably lighter than aluminum which we are accustomed to regard as so remarkable for its lightness of weight.

Think Sneeze Portends Ill Luck.

Sneeze—and superstition cost many lives annually in India. This was the statement of Dr. Anna Decegning of the Woman's American Baptist Foreign Mission society, after 14 years a doctor in India. "A sneeze means a great impending calamity to the Indian mind," said Doctor Decegning.
"Whatever happens on the day that one hears a sneeze is sure to turn out ill, and the Indian will enter upon no undertaking of importance on such a day. Many of our patients have refused to have operations on which their lives depended on the day that had been arranged for, because they happened to sneeze that morning, or even to hear some one else sneeze."

Conversation.

Talk is common; conversation is rare. Henry Thoreau has written:
"When our life ceases to be inward and private conversation degenerates into mere gossip. We rarely meet a man who can tell us any news which he has not read in a newspaper, or been told by his neighbor and, for the most part, the only difference between us and our fellow is that he has seen the newspaper, or been out to tea, and we have not. In proportion as our inward life fails, we go more constantly and desperately to the post office. You may depend on it that the poor fellow who walks away with the greatest number of letters proud of his extensive correspondence, has not heard from himself this long while."

Many persons believe that Mount Washington, in New Hampshire, is the highest mountain in the eastern part of the United States. Mount Washington stands 6288 feet above the sea level, according to the United States geological survey, department of the interior but many peaks in the southern Appalachians are several hundred feet higher than New Hamp-shire's famous mountain. The highest mountain in the Appalachian system—the highest point in the United States east of the Rockies—is Mount Mitchell in North Carolina, which stands at an elevation of 6711 feet. The highest mountain in Tennessee, Mount Glover, stands 6456 feet above sea level.

Wife or Mother First?

Many a man has been torn between a sense of duty to his wife and to his mother. Asked at Tottenham (Eng.) police court the other day why he did not support his mother a man said: "My wife comes first and then she comes second, third and fourth too, and if there's any left over, then it is my wife again." "He was a very unselfish man," said London's lady mayor, Lady Cooper, when asked to express an opinion. "But he's wrong.
If his mother had left him on a doorstep when he was small he wouldn't have had a wife. A man should never forget his own mother, in spite of his wife."

THE U. S. ROYAL CORD

A famous tire—and a famous tread.
Acknowledged among motorists and dealers alike as the world's foremost example of Cord tire building. Always delivering the same repeated economy, tire after tire, and season after season.

The stripe around the sidewall is registered as a trade-mark in the U. S.
Patent Office.

How you can measure tire value in 1921

"Any U. S. Tire is a universal full-money's worth."

OFTEN it's surprising the number of different tire views that come out in a chance talk at the curb or in the leisure of a friend's garage.

Almost every day you come across the man human enough to believe he can outguess the cut-price tag on "job-lots," "discontinued lines" and "surplus stocks."

His opposite is the hard-pan car owner who sticks year in and year out to a standard brand as the only rational economy.

Many will remember the scarcity of U. S. Tires last year.

A hardship at the time, but a benefit now. There are no U. S. Tires to be worked off—no accumulations—no forced selling of any U. S. brand—no shipping of tires from one part of the country to another to "find a market."

There are 92 U. S. Factory Branches.
Each one gets its share of U. S. Tires.
There is a broad, constant, even distribution of U. S. Tires always going on from these Branches to the dealer.

Buy a U. S. Tire anywhere —in a community of 500 people or even less—and you get a fresh, live tire of current production—with all the original service and mileage the factory put into it.

The owner of a medium or light-weight car stands on equal ground with every other car owner.

Any United States Tire is a universal full money's worth—backed up with a leadership policy of equal quality, buying convenience and price for everybody.

"The different tire views that come out in a chance talk."
